Mrs. Patchotko went out into the hall and McHugh followed her, and, she my tried to assault her. She ran into an outsed her with his club. She screamed, and her and come to her assistance. McHugh he struck him with his fist. It came out that efforts had been made to setie the case. Frederick Lighter said that a where he is employed, approached him two or three days after the trouble and asked him to ur and settle the matter. Lighter is acquaintwith the complainants and speaks their Service Duyyil, where he met two men named Morris and Mulligan, who, he says, offered im $75 to try to settle the case, and the reman $75 if she would leave the city. He sole to the Patchotkos about it, and they arred to settle for money. A week or so ago s petery public went to the house and Lighter, who was present, wouldn't let her. so money had been put up. The affidavit set forth that the charge was false, and that it had been brought against the officers for the purpose of getting money from them. Lighter sale he didn't know what the affidavit was.

The netary public who went to the house He testified that McHugh gave him the written affidavit, and asked him to have the roman sign it and to swear her. That was all somm sign it and to awear her. That was all be new about it. It came out that Lawyer Leuis J. Grant. counsel for the accused officers had drawn up the statement to the effect that the charges were falsa. He said he did it is information furnished by Moliugh. Michigh said that Lighter had come to him and said that if he and Morrison would pay $200 astes the case would be dropped. The parties were willing, he said to settle for money. Moliugh told this to his lawyer, and the latter draw up the affidavit to see how far they would go. drew up the affidavit to see how far they would go.
The two officers denied the charges, and said that the Patchotkos were after money. The case will come up before the full Board for section.

Parciman William J. Dickson of the Oak street station was charged with being drunk and unfit for duty at 1 Å. M. on Feb. 13. Sergeant Magan testified that Dickson came down stairs from the section room in his shirt sleves. His face was disfigured and swollen, and one of his hands cut and bleeding. He sargered up to the desk and cried. He said he had been dragged out of his bed and assaulted. He was very profane, and tried to get into the Captain's room. When the Sergeant endered him to go into the back room he repased to go, and became so boisterous that Magan and the doorman had to take him in by tree. He broke away from them, and made saother attempt to go into the Captain's room. Be was so violent that it became necessary to put him in a cell. There he went to sleep, Magan sy rethat Dickson was drunk, Capt. Dickson's councel, put in a plea of not guilty, and the sase was adjourned until next Tuesday, when the defence will be heard. Dickson says he was assaulted by other policemen in the section room, and that the excitement he was aboring under was the direct effect of the assault. He desies that he was drunk. TWO ELEVATED GUARDS AGAINST TWO POLICE-

Roger B. McCoy of the East Twenty-second street station was charged with having assauled Jacob Kirch, an elevated railroad guard, on the morning of Feb. 5. Kirch told the Commissioner that McCoy was on his train on the morning in question. When the train was leaving the station at Eightieth street and Second avenue going up town, McCoy rushed out on the platform and tried to get off. Kirch stoped him, and, he says, McCoy pushed him saide and endeavored to open the gate. He didn't succeed in getting off, and called the guard names. At the Eighty-sixth street station McCoy got off, after calling Kirch a loafer and striking him in the mouth with his fist. C. A. Carlson, another guard, corroborated Kirch's statement. The accused officer denied the charge, and said he was not wind his list. C. A. Carson, another guards-corroborated Rirch's statement. The accused officer denied the charge, and said he was not a the train. It was nearer for him to take a second avenue train home, yet he contended that he went up town on a Third avenue train. Policeman Monahan swore that he rede up town with McCoy on the Third avenue road on the morning in question. The two guards pos-lively identified McCoy.

SEVEN CHARGES AGAINST SCHMITT. Frank Schmitt of the Charles street squad was up on seven charges—being off post, not properly patrolling, failing to remain on the relieving point, being absent from home while on the sick list, &c. He made filmsy excussa. He will have an opportunity to contribute to the pension fund a portion of his next month's salary.

WAS IT GINGER ALE OB BEER? Sergent Price charged Patrolmen John J. Callagann of the Elizabeth street squad with beint off pet in a saloon door at Duane and Cattre atreets on Fob. 13, and drinking with a sitten. Callagann said he met a friend and had a class of ginger ale with him. Price says it was beer.

ACCUSED HIS RIVAL OF INSANIES.

The Courtship of a Connecticut Belle Leads to a Suit for $10,000 Between Rivals, COLLINEVILLE, Conn., Feb. 18.—When Mile Bidwell, one of Collineville's most prominent young men, mounted his horse and rode away one day last week, it was not known where he was going nor when he would re-turn. On Tuesday his father, Lawyer W. W. Bidwell, received a telegram from him to come to Westfield, Mass., at once. The elder Bidwell did so, brought back his son, and at once instituted suit against William Warren, of West-field, in behalf of his son, claiming $10,000 damages for false imprisonment.

Back of this story is a love affair. A year ago Arthur Warren, a young man of pleasing appearance and of a prominent Westfield fam-ily, came to Collinsville to spend a few weeks. He became acquainted with the belle of the village, and although she had lovers by the score, among whom was Milo Bidwell, she amused herself with them all until young Warren met her. Apparently it was a case of love at first sight, and after the first few picnies and summer-night strolls the announcement was a case of love at first sight, and after the first few pionics and summer-night stroils the announcement was made that the two were engaged. Like gentlemen, though defeated lovers, the Collins-ville beaux withdraw and left warren to enjoy the conquest. He soon went home, and for a time letters passed between the young people daily, greatly augmenting the revenue of the country Post Office and making the simple villagers wonder what they found to write about. Toung Warren, however, proved to be of a fickle nature, and his letters soon began to grow loss frequent, and finally ceased altogether. Then the parents of the young woman intimated to Milo Bidwell, who had been their choice for a son-in-law from the start, that now was his time to go in and win.

The idea struck him javorably, and he soon became a most devoted slave of the young woman. She accepted him and promised that in the spring she would fix the wedding day. In order to have a home ready for his bride, Bidwell purchased a corner lot on one of the handsomest streets in this village and had plans drawn for a $3,000 house. The bride-to-be approved of the plans after she had suggested a few alterations, and the work on the structure began a few weeks ago. It is now nearly completed, an-Bidwell was about to consult the young woman as to the furnishings, when warren came to Collinsville again. This was a few weeks ago, but he called on his former fiance, pleaded his cause so eloquently that she forgare his former ficklepses, threw over Bidwell, and promised to wed warren.

Bidwell, and promised to well was the had laid away, tied up with the traditional blue ribbon. These he decided to show to Warren, a horther lessides himself would cause Warren, to throw over the young woman, when his, Bidwell's, chance would come again.

So when Milo mounted his pony, last Tuesday, he had in his overcoat pockets a number of tender read several of the le GEORGE M. VAN NORT. leged to Be a Helpless Izvalid. Mrs. Emma Van Nort, the wife of George M. Public Works, is suing for a legal separation living with Susan Roberts at 58 West Twentyfifth street, and she has also a suit pending against the latter to recover $25,000 damages for the alienation of her husband's affections. The case against the husband was before Justice Cullen, in Brooklyn, yesterday, on a motion for alimony and counsel foe. Frank E. Smith, Van Nort's lawyer, asked for an adsmith, van Norts lawyer, asked for an action pour ment. He said Van Nort was a belpless invalid who could only be seen at his residence, and counsel found communication with him difficult.

Mrs. Van Nort's lawyer said she was absolutely without means, while her husband was wealthy. Mr. Van Nort was able to visit his club daily. It was true that he was an invalidable but he had been in that condition for years. He was at present, the lawyer said, under control of a woman who was not his wife. The lawyer did not believe that Van Nort had ever affixed his name to any papers in the suit, and he seriously doubted whether any one was ever authorized to defend the case. Mr. and Mrs. Van Nort were married at the Palace Hotel, San Francisco, on Nov. 24, 1886. In the damage proceedings which Mrs. Van Nort brought against Busan Eoberts, the defendant in her answer, alleged that she was the lawful wife of Mr. Van Nort. The plaintiff's lawyer said, if Van Nort married the woman he was a bigamist. Counsel objected to any delay in the case unless affidavits were produced to show that Van Nort had taken some part in the action.

The defendant's lawyer handed up an affidavit made by Van Nort, and Justice Cullen adjourned with Bobbins His New York journment. He said Van Nort was a belpless Boston, Feb. 18.—James D. Kineley of the firm of Davis, Kinsley & Co., wool dealers at 112 Federal street, was arrested to-day on a warrant charging him with the embezzlement of $34,700. The embezzlement is alleged to have taken place while he was a member of have taken place while he was a member of the firm of Strauss. Kinsley & Co., which was dissolved in the fall of 1889. It is alleged that the embezzisment was committed in connection with dealings on account of English merchants, and it is supposed that Mr. Kinsley used the money chiefly to carry the new dissolved firm over financial should. It is expected that a civil suit will result from the arrest. Kinsley was held in $30.000 till March 13. Strauss is a New York man, and it is understood he makes the complaint against his former partner.

Still No Senator for Illinois. SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Feb. 18.—In the joint Assembly to-day the F. M. B. A. men once more cast their three votes for Streeter, their regu-lar candidate, but the Republican steering lar candidate, but the Republican steering committee could not give him an undivided support. The 102d ballot resulted as follows: Palmer, 101: Streeter, 78; Oglesby, 17; Hunter, 4: Lindiey, 3: Longenecker, 1. In subsequent ballots some of the recalcitrant Republicans ranged about promiscuously, bringing in a number of new names, among them that of Judge Gresham. After the 108th ballot, which stood; Palmer, 101: Streeter, 90; Oglesby, 12; Lindley, 1, the Assembly adjourned.

Gibson Surrenders and Gives Ball. CHICAGO, Feb. 18.-Ex-Secretary Gibson of the Whiskey Trust, who arrived from Peorla last night, walked into Judge Sheperd's court this morning and gave $25,000 ball for his appearance in court. Thomas Hutchinson, Secretary of the Chicago Distilling Company, and George T. Burrough, Secretary of the Phoenix Distilling Company, being his sureties. Gibson was then released.

They Ask for Judge Hamilton's Removal AUGUSTA. Me., Feb. 18 .- The York county delegation of the Legislature, before whom were presented the charges made by City Marshal Tarbox of Biddeford against Municipal Judge Hamilton of that city, has voted to recommend to the Governor that Judge Hamilton be re-moved from office.

Suicide of a Man Who Was Accused in Fun of Maving Committed a Murder. OAKLAND. Pa., Feb. 18.—Mrs. Morths Harris, a widow of 57 years, lived alone for a number of years in a little house on the Laurel Run tember Mrs. A. B. Harris, the lone weman's sister-in-law, found the widow dead in her house. Bhe was sitting in a rocking chair and a cat lay saleep in her lap. The body was cold, and the indications were that Mrs. Harris had died the previous day. A post mortem showed that heart disease had killed her. Everybody in the community accepted this statement except Joel L. Potter, a woodsman living on White to hunt down the murderer. He stuck to this theory all the fall, and he talked so much about it that some one finally said to him in a joking way:

"Potter, it you keep on calling Mrs. Harris's death a murder, the part thing you know people will begin to think that you killed her."

The jest spread through the neighborhood, and in a lew weeks it got to be a common thing for some one to hector Potter about it whenever he brought up the subject of Ars. Harris's alleged murder. "Bay, Potter, how did you kill the widow, anyhow? Did your poison her or choke her to death?" and similar unpleasant questions were put to him, until he got so that he didn't speak of hey death.

Between 11 and 13 o'clock last Friday pight Mr, Potter got out of bed, dressed himself, and started for the bars, telling his wife that he had forgotten to bed the horses. Mrs. Potter fell saleep at once, and when she swoke it was after 4 o'clock. Her husband was not in bed, and she dressed herself and went out to the barn in search of him. Everything in the barn and stables was all right, but she got no trace of Mr. Potter. Then she called up her son Richard, and he carerhad the premises in wain. Bhortly after daylight, D. O. Bayder, who was driving along the creek road in a sleigh, saw a man's garments on Staley's mill pond, three-guarters of a mile from Mr. Potter's house, lanyder hitched his team and walked over the lice to where the garments lay, near a hole. There was a forskin cap, a coat, a vest, and a pair of boots in the pile, and they were held down by an axe. Snyder recognized the cap as that of Mr. Pottor. A woman's shrieks brought Policeman Donovan to the corner of Desbrosses and West streets on Tuesday night. At the entrance to the Pennsylvania House a man stood arguing with a young woman. The woman's face was beemeared with mud and her hair hung in disorder down her back. As the police-man approached, the woman ran out on the dock, as if she meant to jump into the river. Donovan overtook her jump into the river. Donovan overtook her and pulled her back as she stepped on the stringpiece. Every action of the girl indicated mental disorder. The man in her company said he was her uncle Joseph Bergen, and that he had just arrived from New London to take the girl, whose name is Aina Olsan, back to her home in Sweden. During the past two months she had shown signs of insanity, which, he thought must have been caused by homesickness. She has been in this country only eight months. At the Tombs Court yesterday Justice Hogan committed the girl for examination as to her sanity.

Judge Pryor of the Court of Common Pleas issued an order of arrest yesterday against Alva E. Davis, who is already locked up in Ludlow street jail on a charge of fraudulent representations made by Herbert B.King. The present order was obtained by Albert C. Couch, who makes similar accusations to those made by Mr. King. Ball was fixed at $10.000. The papers were filed with Warden Dunlap of Ludlow street jail.
